Stretching along the west coast from Vancouver Island's northern tip to the Alaska panhandle, the Great Bear Rainforest represents 25 percent of the world's remaining ancient coastal temperate rainforest. Home to more than 230 species of birds and 68 species of mammals, it's the largest intact temperate rainforest left anywhere on earth. For more information about this spectacular place and Ian McAllister's stunning photography, please visit greatbearbooks.com or pacificwild.org.
